The LIT OIC Introduces Itself: Software Competence Center Hagenberg Ltd.

An interview with the two managing directors at the Software Competence Center Hagenberg Ltd. talk about the advantages of working at the LIT OIC.

Why did the Software Competence Center Hagenberg Ltd. (SCC) move into the LIT Open Innovation Center?

Markus Kresl: We always know what we want to work closely with J&J and moving into the SCC was the ideal way to expand on this idea. Our founding directors had a close relationship to the J&J family and we wanted to increase the number of J&J projects within the SCC. We are able to make particularly good use of the meeting structures we now have for joint projects and strategic collaboration efforts. The open-concept workplace is tailor-made for us and allows us to work on many exciting projects.

Robert Wilms: We have always had a close relationship to J&J and we have been working with them for many years. The LIT OIC’s open-concept space is ideal for us. The SCC’s main areas of expertise are Social Innovation and Social Entrepreneurship. With regard to Social Innovation, we support the development and implementation of innovative ideas. We also provide digital support and advice. Our focus is on supporting innovative ideas and projects. This is particularly helpful for SCC projects.

What is the SCC’s main area of expertise?

Robert Wilms: The SCC is a service organization with focus on creativity, innovation, and digital transformation. We work with companies to help them develop new ideas and improve their processes. We also provide support in the areas of innovation and social entrepreneurship. We work with companies to help them develop new ideas and improve their processes. We also provide support in the areas of innovation and social entrepreneurship.

What are the advantages of working at the LIT OIC?

Markus Kresl: The LIT OIC offers a unique and diverse environment. We are able to work closely with J&J and develop new ideas together. We are also able to use the open-concept space to work on many exciting projects. The SCC’s main areas of expertise are Social Innovation and Social Entrepreneurship. With regard to Social Innovation, we support the development and implementation of innovative ideas. We also provide digital support and advice. Our focus is on supporting innovative ideas and projects. This is particularly helpful for SCC projects.

What is the SCC’s main area of expertise?

Robert Wilms: The SCC is a service organization with focus on creativity, innovation, and digital transformation. We work with companies to help them develop new ideas and improve their processes. We also provide support in the areas of innovation and social entrepreneurship. We work with companies to help them develop new ideas and improve their processes. We also provide support in the areas of innovation and social entrepreneurship.